

Travel Charges

The following Travel Charges are the estimated costs that Compass Key recommends to their trainers to compensate them for their time and actual travel cost. The actual fee charged is calculated by the individual trainer and may vary from one program to the next throughout the Service Dog Training Program depending on several other factors (including tolls, parking fees, or other additional costs associated with travel). Our trainers always review traffic patterns and account for traffic when determining their travel charge.

Trainer Flying to a Client for Training Sessions
Time	$300	- The price chart to the left represents the "per day" cost for a trainer to come to you (plus the cost of the training program and airfare). - Client is responsible for booking and paying for the cost of trainer's round-trip airfare and baggage fees . Please review with your trainer before booking as you will need their full name and birth date. Please be respectful of travel times, not scheduling departure prior to 8:00am or arrival later than 8:00pm unless previously cleared with trainer. - The "Time" cost is for each day (4+ hours) the trainer blocks off of their calendar for traveling to work with you. If they are blocking off under 4 hours of a day, the cost will be $150. - The prices listed in this section are the minimum amounts charged. In some situations, depending on the location of travel, the cost of meals, hotel, and rental car may be higher and a different price will be quoted.
